Micro-credentials for the Future of Education

36 Months | 5 Countries
16 Institutions | 7 Universities

Micro-GEAR is an Erasmus+ project supporting modernization of higher education in Georgia and Armenia through micro-credentials.

What Are Micro-credentials ?

- Micro-credentials are short, certified learning experiences that validate specific skills, knowledge, or competencies. They are learner-centered and flexible, transparent and quality-assured.

Target Groups

- Higher education institutions
- Policy makers and education authorities
- Quality assurance and accreditation bodies
- Academic and administrative staff
- Learners and professionals seeking upskilling opportunities

Key Objectives

- Promote the value of micro-credentials in higher education
- Align national policies with European Council recommendations
- Update National Qualifications Frameworks in Georgia and Armenia
- Build institutional capacity to design and recognize micro-credentials
- Develop and pilot micro-credential learning units
- Ensure broad dissemination and long-term sustainability
